“ Earn University Credit For Attending Rick Morris Workshops/Seminars And For Using Rick’s Strategies To Enhance Student Achievement ”

You are already putting in hours of work, perhaps attending seminars and conferences or reading Rick Morris’s books. In doing so you are incorporating new ideas into your curriculum. You’re also increasing your knowledge base, adding to your professional skill set, and improving the classroom culture so that students are happier and more productive.

Why not receive university graduate-level credit for the work you have already done?

The cost is only $279 for three graduate-level professional development units/credits.

It’s easy to sign up!

For more information you may visit Rick’s Website at NewManagement.com and click on the “University Credit” link. Or email him at RickMorrisCourse@gmail.com. You may also email Courses4Teachers/University of the Pacific for more information at courses4teachers@courses4teachers.net
